MEMPHIS PLANTS EXCEPT WOOD ON SHORT SCHEDULES

Wood Products Manufacturers Think Garfield Will Permit Them to Operate on Wood as During War.

Memphis industries of the classes within the province of the fuel administration order restricting operations where coal and electrical power and lights are consumed to 48 hours a week are now operating on that basis. The large number of plants affected are using this operating period variously, some operating eight hours a day.

TORPEDOED!

Don't blast your Liver and Bowels, but take "Cascarets."

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach and colds. Are you keeping your liver and bowels clean with Cascarets, or shocking your insides every two days with Calomel, Salts, Oil and violent pills? Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Cascarets never gripe, sicken or cause inconvenience and Cascarets cost 20 little, too.

which will give six days' work, others nine and a half hours a day, with the intention of closing down Saturdays. Another will cut its week to 48 hours, planning to work eight hours a day for five days and remaining closed on Saturday.

Despite the press dispatch from Atlanta that plants burning wood and oil will also be restricted from operating more than 48 hours a week, Memphis lumber, veneer, cooperage and other wood working manufacturers in general will continue to operate full time until officially forbidden to do so. They will do this upon the assumption that the ruling which Director Garfield made during the war period, will apply at this time. Dr. Garfield then ruled that the wood working plants should operate full time, because they not only produce their own fuel, but produce fuel which can be used in heating dwellings in place of coal.

There is no tendency on the part of any of the wood products manufacturers to evade the fuel conserving regulations, but they generally hold that it would be silly to curtail operations in the light of the precedent established during the war, and the fact that they would thus reduce the fuel supply.

S. Walker, Wellford, of the Chickasaw Cooperage company, one of the largest manufacturing concerns in Memphis, declared that he would be confronted with the refusal of wood and sawdust for the dry kilns by operating ten hours five days a week, and about eight hours Saturday.

S. M. Nickey, of Nickey Bros., and the Green River Lumber company, also operate dry kilns at the former plant (veneer plant) which must have fuel 24 hours the day. He stated that the Nickey Bros. plant normally operates 16 hours a day or 60 hours a week and he thought it would "be silly" for them to reduce their operations to 48 hours a week and still cut this down to 48 very easily. J. C. Dean, president of the company, said: "This company burns sawdust and wood refuse produced at its own plant and has wood left over to sell."

W. A. Rasmussen, president of the Jayco Lumber Co., declared he thought it would be the height of folly for his plant to shut down unless officially ordered to do so, as it not only produced its own fuel, but a surplus of 20 to 40 wagon loads of wood refuse a day to sell to residents of the city. "We are a fuel producing industry," he said, "and so Dr. Garfield held during the war."

J. P. McSwain, president and manager of the Memphis Band Mill Co., declared that he saw no reason why the lumber mills should not go ahead and operate full time until ordered to stop, but that the embargo on the Frisco road, would greatly curtail his operations, because his supply of logs come in largely over that road.

That the fuel saving order does not apply to cotton seed oil mills has been ascertained by J. H. Scruggs, district manager of the Buckeye Cotton Oil company, in a telegram direct from R. L. Winchell, fuel director at Atlanta. Mr. Winchell wired that the cotton oil plants could continue to operate without restriction because of their being engaged in producing food products.

Mr. Scruggs also learned from Atlanta that the regional railroad administration there is about to ask Washington to abate the embargo against cotton seed shipments.

Such manufacturers as the Virginia Bridge & Iron works, the American Flag company, the Edgar Morgan company, manufacturers of stock foods, and the Chickasaw Machine & Foundry company, have cut their operating schedules to suit the fuel directors' wishes.

The trust of Herbert H. Gerwig on charges of violating the Reed amendment and violation of the war-time prohibition act, was begun in the United States district court at the afternoon session of the court.

Gerwig was formerly clerk for the Illinois Central railroad and the government charges that in this capacity he had whiskey bottled from Louisville by way of Memphis to Carthage, Mo. The government further charges that Gerwig obtained possession of the whiskey while it was in Memphis and before being placed on board a boat for Carthage, Mo. These acts, which the government will endeavor to establish, are declared to be violations of the Reed amendment.

The government will also endeavor to prove that Gerwig sold the whiskey in Memphis, in violation of the war-time prohibition act.

It is expected that the entire afternoon or the greater part of it will be required to try this case.

CROOK NOT CROOK.
J. H. Crook, negro, is not a crook, although he was charged with being one. When Crook's case was called for trial Tuesday in the second criminal court, in which he was charged with highway robbery, William Hardwick, prosecuting attorney, recommended to the judge and jury that a not guilty verdict be returned. The recommendation was satisfactory and Crook was released.

The defendant was tried and convicted of the crime, but Judge Marsh has granted him a new trial.
